The Anaconda office of the Rocky Mountain Telegraph company has been removed to convenient quarters in the main office of the Montana. The line is equipped for prompt and careful service on all local and through business, east or west. The Rocky Mountain line has much the larger share of the telegraph business of this city. The patronage of the public is solicited.

THE WEATHER.

The daily record of the thermometer in this city is reported by A. T. Playter, druggist, corner Main and First streets. The record for yesterday was: 7 a. m., 47 degrees above; 12 m., 58 degrees above; p. m., 64 degrees above; 8 p. m., 55 degrees above.

ABOUT THE CITY.

The Trades and Labor assembly held a meeting at Standard hall last evening.

Rebekah Lodge, I. O. O. F., met at their lodge room in the Standard building last evening. The meeting was an enthusiastic one.

There was no dance at French hall last evening, owing to the absence of the promoters of the affair, Messrs. Brennan & Gettings.

The Rod and Gun club will hold a practice shoot at the grounds above Anaconda park this evening with the permission of the weather.

The Haystack and Mossback ball games are practicing daily for their match, which will be played at the valley picnic grounds on July 4.

Evening fishing parties to the dam seem to be all the rage of late. At least a dozen of them were held with varying results during the past week.

At the regular weekly drawing at the Merrill & Co.'s jewelry store last evening the holder of ticket No. 6 proved to be the winner of the gold watch.

The authorities state that several business houses about the city have gotten into the habit of fastening their awnings to the center of the sidewalks by means of a rope. This, they say, is a nuisance, and should be stopped. It is necessary, however, thus to fasten them when high winds prevail.

Quite an interesting little runaway occurred on Friday evening. Mrs. I. F. Kirby's horse was standing in front of the family residence on Oak street when it suddenly became frightened and dashed away. It was caught at the corner of Oak street and Park avenue before any damage had been done.

Young Brown's Proposition.
 Young Brown, the "Butcher Boy," well known throughout Montana, as a very clever lightweight boxer, is ready to meet any lightweight in the state for a purse of $100 and the entire gate receipts. He says he would like to have a go with Teddie Harrington, providing he does not have to concede more than 15 pounds weight, and will bet any amount that Streeter cannot knock him out in 10 rounds. Young Brown says that he is not looking for newspaper notoriety and is ready to put up his money any time for a fight. Brown has a record of nine battles, eight of which he won, while the other was a six-round draw with Young Dempsey. His last fight was with Jack Williams of Denver and after a desperate fight of 15 rounds Williams was put to sleep.

Real Estate Deal.
 B. F. Mahan sold a lot on Chestnut street yesterday between Fourth and Fifth streets. The consideration was $600.

BOZEMAN BRIEFLETS

Events Transpiring in the Metropolis of the Gallatin Valley.

PREPARING FOR THE FOURTH

A House Struck By Lightning—Opening of the Ferris Hot Springs—A Horse Stolen.

Special to the Standard.

BOZEMAN, June 27.—Hon. George O. Eaton was in Bozeman yesterday.

L. A. King of Anaconda has been in Bozeman several days.

Like Smith, the rustling real estate man from Phillipsburg, has permanently located in Bozeman. He has effected a partnership with James M. Lindley, who is one of Bozeman's oldest and best business men.

Great preparations for the Fourth continue. Hon. Lee Mantle of Butte will deliver the oration of the day at the opera house. The fire department will give an exhibition race with their new jumper in the evening. There will be a large parade. There will also be races at the race track.

Lightning struck the residence of William Alward yesterday. It struck a brick chimney and was carried from that away on some tin attached to the roof. No one was hurt and but little damage done.

Rev. J. W. Sanderson of this city has changed places for next Sunday with Rev. T. V. Moore of Helena. Rev. Mr. Sanderson will preach in Helena and Rev. Mr. Moore to the Bozeman congregation.

Arthur Marston and family left for London, England, where he will take a position with his father in the publishing business.

A horse was stolen from W. H. Treacy Thursday evening. Nothing has been heard of the thief or the missing animal.

Miss Libby Wakefield returned from the Park Wednesday.

The 11th annual convocation of the Episcopal jurisdiction of Montana will meet in St. James' church of this city tomorrow, and will continue sessions through Monday and Tuesday.

Dr. M. G. Parsons of Helena was in Bozeman this week.

Harold Gregory, son of Charles A. Gregory, at the head of the Gregory High Line canal of this county, arrived from Harvard college to spend his vacation with his parents here.

A large number of persons from Bozeman and vicinity and from abroad attended the opening of the Ferris hot springs, just west a few miles, Thursday night. A grand ball and an elegant supper were the principal features. The springs have been fitted up nicely and E. Myron Ferris, their owner, is giving them his personal attention this summer.

I. W. Swan has returned from his trip to Castle.

Misses Kate Winter and Rose Lay are visiting at Castle.

Mr. Hall, cashier of the First National bank of Big Timber, now under process of organization, is spending a few days in Bozeman.

C. G. Bradshaw of Butte, who has been handling the Clark addition to Bozeman, sold 40 lots in the last two weeks. The colonel showed himself to be a great rustler.

Doctors Fled From Anaconda

Doubtless for Anaconda's good. A lot of traveling so-called "doctors" have been visiting Anaconda for the past few months, but have gone where the woodbine twined. Dr. Liebig & Co., the old reliable and successful Kansas City, Butte City and San Francisco special physicians and surgeons are still here and will have office monthly at the Deimonico Anaconda, on the 12th day of July and the 12th day of each and every month hereafter; also at Hotel Florence, Missoula, 13 and 14; Moore House, Granite, 16 and 18; Kaiser House, Phillipsburg, 17 and 18; McBurney House, Deer Lodge, 19; Nagle House, Dillon, 20 and 21; Windsor, Boulder, last day of each month ever afterwards.

A Game for the Fourth.

A meeting of the Standard base ball nine was held on Friday evening, but owing to the absence of several members of the team no action was taken in regard to a game which may be played on July 4. Another meeting will be called within a few days to make final arrangements. The weather has been such of late that the boys have been unable to obtain any practice, but they still expect to be in excellent condition before the Fourth and in case a game is played, will do their best to wipe out the diamond with their opponents.

Still in Jail.

Swede Lill is still in jail, having been unable to obtain money enough to pay for her release. She should have saved the money she paid for the release of her private secretary a few days ago. The Mormon Kid and the two Swedes fined for fighting on the row on Thursday morning, still dine at the lockup, having been unable to pay their fines.

Teachers' Excursion.

For the National Educational convention at Toronto, July 14, the Great Northern Railway line (Montana Central railway) will sell tickets from Butte to Toronto and return for $71.95, plus $2 for membership fee. Tickets on sale July 6 to 11, with final limit September 30. For particulars as to routes, etc., call at Great Northern office, 106 Main street.

To-day's Dog Race.

The postponed dog race will take place to-day near Mill creek. Two Butte dogs will also be in the contest, which will be unusually interesting. A large party of sports will leave for the scene of action at 10 o'clock this morning.

Mr. Welcome's Bad Eye.

George Welcome is suffering from a very painful eye. The cause is thought to be inflammation resulting from a cold. There is no serious danger, however, and it is believed that the inflamed optic will be well in a few days.

Music for the Fourth.

Professor Bierman went over to Butte yesterday to obtain the services of several musicians to assist him at the Fourth of July celebration at the valley picnic grounds. He was unable to get enough musicians here for his band.

WAIT FOR FOREPAUGH.

Wait for the Big Show—Wait for the Monster Aggregation Coming on Its Own Four Special Trains.

"Wait for Forepaugh," has been placarded throughout the United States and Canada, in every city, town, village and hamlet, for the past twenty-eight years. "Wait for Forepaugh, Wait for the Big Show, Wait for the Monster Aggregation coming on its Own Special Trains." These and similar catch lines have headed the large and small circus posters, appeared upon advance couriers, upon large and small distributing handbills, doggers, etc., and have been in all the daily and weekly newspapers everywhere since the memorable division of the circus territory by the Barnum and Forepaugh shows, one playing the Eastern circuit exclusively in a season, and the other the Western territory, and vice versa each year, for which arrangements were made and contracts signed in June, 1881, at the Commercial hotel, in Chicago, Ill., after the bitter fight between these two rival organizations during that season.

The reason for so freely using these catch lines by the Forepaugh management is because the concern was always large, great and expensive, but has grown now into an enormous institution, with a capital of $3,000,000 invested, the daily expenses reaching $5,000, employing upwards of 1,000 people, and exhibiting the largest and greatest collection of animals the world has ever seen since the exodus from Noah's ark, giving a triple-ring circus, with stage performances—over 200 artist performers of the best that Europe and America produces, a Roman Hippodrome, Wild West and numerous other rare, original and distinctively foreign features, all of which would take a book of at least 300 pages to properly describe. The thirty fanner in the rural districts makes it a point to take his family and help to one circus during the season, and very rarely more than one. The Adam Forepaugh shows being a great national institution, he believes it to be a religious duty to himself and family to attend this wonderful traveling World's Exposition.

This is one reason that the catch lines, "Wait for Forepaugh, Wait for the Big Show, Wait for the Monster Aggregation," etc., etc., are placed so extensively over city, town and country long before the great shows make their appearance, and it is done to give all the people due notice that the Adam Forepaugh shows will be right here in their midst at some time during the season, because when they know that they can well afford to wait to get enough circus to last them for a year, or until the great show comes around again. The date of the Great Exhibition here is August 28, and the magnificent street pageant, nearly two miles in length, will occur our thoroughfare starting from the show grounds promptly at 9 a. m. The show also exhibits at Dillon August 25, Butte August 26, Helena August 27 and Missoula August 28.

MUSTAFA'S REAPPEARANCE.

Something About the Famous Director of the Papal Orchestra.

From the New York Sun.

The celebration of the last anniversary of the coronation of Pope Leo XIII. was the occasion of the reappearance of Signor Mustafa as director of the Papal orchestra. This reappearance was a great musical event for the artists of Italy, and it has not failed to attract considerable attention throughout Northern Europe, for Signor Mustafa is not only a wonderful musician, but also a unique man, with a curious history.

He is the son of a poor mule driver in Spoleto. In early childhood he showed a remarkable genius in music, and was sent by friends of his father to Rome to have his voice cultivated. He sang an amazing soprano, and found no difficulty in getting a place in the Sistine choir. His unusual abilities won him universal approval, and he was eventually promoted by Pius IX. to the title directorship of the orchestra. He gathered new laurels as a composer. The most famous work is the "Motette," which he composed in 1870 for the St. Peter's jubilee. Three choirs joined in producing it.

When Leo XIII. ascended the throne and inaugurated several reforms, Mustafa believed that the time had come for the execution of plans long cherished by him. He proposed that the members of the papal orchestra should be allowed to marry, and that pensions should be granted before the pensioners had grown so old that they had no voices at all. The suggestions were accepted, but the reforms were not carried out. Mustafa struck. He laid aside his official hat and retired to his estate at Spoleto, whence he first emerged to lead at the recent celebration.

Mustafa has had several curious encounters with North European musicians, whom, as a class, he does not regard with favor. At the time of the celebration of the Palestine jubilee Mustafa requested all the great musical masters of the world to send in original compositions to the honor of the old Italian composer. Many responded. Richard Wagner, however, sent only the score of a mass by Palestrina, with marginal directions as to how it should be rendered. Mustafa acknowledged Wagner's contribution thus:

"Were the matter in question the production of one of your works, I would yield to your judgment. I hardly perceive, however, that the musicians of Rome have anything to learn from others as to the interpretation of Palestrina's works."

A German sovereign visiting Rome wished the score of a composition by Palestrina, which he had heard played under Mustafa's direction. It was sent to him. Subsequently he wrote that some mistake had been made, as the score received was quite different from the one which he had sent for. He had heard this orchestra play from the score forwarded to him, and was sure that Mustafa had misunderstood his request. Mustafa replied that, if the sovereign would send his orchestra leader to Rome, he would soon learn where the mistake was. The leader was sent, learned from Mustafa, returned to his sovereign, and, from the score first delivered, rendered the melody which the sovereign desired to hear. He had learned in Rome how to interpret Palestrina. In other words, only Mustafa can to-day properly interpret Palestrina.
